So Privileged to Serve These Servants of The Lord

Janice and I are so often humbled in the position that we serve in as Field Coordinators to Haiti. Let us allow these pictures to talk for us. We know the quality of the boat pic is not the best, but those are Pastors Leon and Eddy in the boat dressed in their suits and ties - NOT going fishing! They needed to get to a double marriage (See other pic) and a pastoral ordination in a nearby town. But due to the real dangers of gang activity along the roads, they needed to hire this boat. At first we just smiled, but then we looked closer and noticed that this boat actually has a leak! They were having to keep their feet up on some boards to keep them dry for the trip. Our point? Pastors like these are the servants that many of you partner with. When I asked him about it, Leon just said, "Yes...Taking a leaky boat to go to do the work of The Master." God bless and KEEP these dear servants of His, as they labor for Him with such abandon!

Consider Partnering with Pastor Eddy Romeus

Janice and I have known Eddy Romeus long before he got married, was ordained, and left his job to serve full-time as senior pastor of a church in the St. Marc area under the Baptist Haiti Mission. He courageously worked as our driver, when no one else would dare travel where we needed to go. He also sacrificially served our short-term teams, taking off work to escort us in his own vehicle to remote village churches for projects. His integrity and character have been proven over the years, as he has served alongside Pastors Leon and Faude. We can also personally vouch for his ability to preach. I will never forget hearing him open an obscure passage from the Old Testament, that I myself considered a challenge, into a marvelous and clear Gospel message. The Haiti Relief Fund, however, has recently been the major source of his support.

Pastor Eddy would be the next man we would bring to promote in The States, but a tour at this time is impossible. If the Lord leads, would you consider him for monthly support?

We Thank The Lord for A Thriving School!

Due to approximately $4,000 sent in to The Haiti Relief Fund, along with a special school donation, we gratefully report that the church school has resumed for now!
